Best friends

It was a dog's world at the old Romulus Department of Public Works Building when pet owners across the city brought their best friends in for inoculations and licensing. The clinic was sponsored by the Animal Control Department. Cuddled up to his dog "Kermitt" is Rodney Smit, 11, right. Below is Michael Pattenade, 8, with "Lady." Lady's only comment regarding her inoculation was, "Ruff!" ANP photos by Guy Warren/staff photographer

$3 million bond

Disorderly conduct leads to major city drug bust

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Three people were arrested after Romulus police confiscated more than $1 million worth of cocaine and heroin as well as large amounts of money and jewelry during the largest drug bust in city history last week.

"Officers responded to a call from the security staff of a local hotel who requested assistance in the eviction of a disorderly female guest," said Sgt. Dan Snyder of the Feb. 25 incident.

Soon, Anat Romano, 25, Zory Romano, 36, of Israel and Sabrina Robinson, 31, of Detroit were arrested.

The Romanos claimed to be brother and sister and California residents. In checking with immigration officials, Anat apparently overextended her visa. Zory's "green card" allows him to be here legally. The two had stayed at the hotel for the past several days, according to police reports.

The incident began after Anat was evicted about 7 p.m. "The hotel received calls from a man who claimed a briefcase was left under a mattress in that room. He demanded to have the briefcase returned and at least threatened the hotel staff. At one point he apologized, and asked the hotel not to call the police. At that point, we were called," said Snyder. When Romulus police arrived, they opened the suitcase to discover $10,000 in cash and 8 ounces of cocaine. "About that time, Zory appeared on the scene and admitted to ownership of the briefcase," Snyder added.

He was then arrested and police found he was carrying $31,000 in cash and the key to a rental car. In the meantime, Anat waited with Robinson in a room of the hotel next door. Police obtained a search warrant for the hotel room and the car, according to Snyder.

In the neighboring hotel, police found the two females and arrested them. More cocaine, eight live rounds of ammunition for a .357 Magnum and a .38-caliber stainless steel revolver were also recovered.

In the rental car, police confiscated a pound and a half of heroin, some expensive jewelry and at least 12 watches.

Zory Romano was charged on three counts with possession of both cocaine and heroin and intent to deliver. His bond was set at $3.1 million. Anat Romano was charged on two counts with possession of cocaine with intent to deliver. Her bond was set at $1.1 million. Robinson was charged on one count with possession of cocaine and intent to deliver. A preliminary exam has been set in 34th District Court for 9 a.m. March 4.

"This is the largest bust Romulus police have ever seen. The heroin was 96 percent pure. In Detroit, the street value could be as high as three quarters of a million dollars where the purity of heroin averages about 3 percent.

Romulus police, with the assistance of the Downriver Area Narcotics Office, will continue the investigation, Snyder noted. "We regularly confiscate ounces of marijuana but the amount we've seen here is rare," he said.

Cocaine seized in 2 homes

Police raided two suspected "crack houses" in Romulus last Thursday.

Two people were taken into custody, interviewed and released, pending further investigation, according to a spokesperson from the Downriver Area Narcotics Organization.

Search warrants were obtained for two residences in the Woodside Square Co-Operatives, one on Alexander and the other on Golden street. Two grams of "crack cocaine," one handgun and some stolen stereo equipment were confiscated.

Charges to be filed against the two individuals would be determined by the Wayne County Prosecutor.

According to the downriver narcotics police, Romulus is experiencing about the same amount of illegal drug activity as the rest of downriver. "We are seeing a lot of crack cocaine. It is readily available and has become a universal problem. Packaged in a small chunk, about one tenth of a gram, it can sell for up to $80 on the street," officials said.

Officials said the price of marijuana has dramatically increased from $15 a quarter ounce 10-15 years ago up to nearly $100 today.

Council and treasurer don't 'compute'

Members of the Romulus City Council and Treasurer John Lewkowicz engaged in verbal battle once again at the regular meeting Monday evening.

This dispute, this time, centered around Lewkowicz' request that the city prepare bid specifications for a computer for his office. He was informed by members of the council that this had been done, and a bid had been received and accepted for a computer system for the entire city more than two years ago. There is, to date, no such computer in the office of the treasurer.

"The City Charter states that all purchases by the city over $750 should be let for bids. You are in violation of city charter," Lewkowicz stated. The computer for the treasurer's office is expected to cost about $4,100.

In 1985, the city entered into a contract with First Computer Corp. and New World Systems Corp. to purchase a computer system for the city.

"The computer system has been let for bid," stressed Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks.

City Attorney Barry Seifman noted, "The bid has been extended as the city intends to standardize all city computers."

Mayor Beverly McAnally

added, "The contract for the system didn't state a specific completion date. And it may take a long time. Before the installation, all department heads were interviewed and a schedule was established. There's been a hold-up with installation in the treasurer's office. The problem is with the treasurer.

"I cannot in good conscience keep up with this bickering. This is a childish request. I say let it go out for bids and let what happens, happen. This is a total fiasco," she added.

The matter was further complicated after Lewkowicz said the president of First Computer Corp. told him in his office, the city could have this computer at this low price and that he "would match any bid submitted to the city."

"We can't cut deals," said Councilman Noah Bergeron. "That's price fixing. John, you put us between a rock and a hard place. No matter what we do, council loses. I could not support Junior Block's motion to let for bids just to satisfy John. It's not right to go out for bids knowing beforehand who will be awarded the bid. I don't want the city to get sued by people submitting bids that would never be accepted. This is a violation of the system, not the charter. It's a farce."

Romulus will allocate federal money

City administrators in Romulus have some difficult choices to make within the next few weeks as they decide on the best use for the nearly $80,000 in federal block grant funds the city will be receiving.

Nearly every city department and several representatives of civic organizations appeared before the members of the council Monday evening to make their requests for a portion of the funds.

According to Community Development Director Richard Viskochil, the city requested $92,000 this year, the same they received last year. "However, due to cuts in President Reagan's budget, it is possible we will only receive $80,000."

After each person made their short presentation, according to Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, the total amount of the requests came to $129,000.

"The number one criteria for the allocation of block grant funds is that they go first to low and moderate neighborhoods," said Viskochil.

Mayor Beverly McAnally requested $25,000 "for the purpose of creating a residential incentive program to encourage relocation of displaced residents, to upgrade housing stock, dispose of city owned properties and attract new residential development," she said.

Alton Shelly, director of the Romulus Help Center asked for $8,000 for senior services and $15,000 for the youth services.

Theresa Washington of the Romulus Housing Commission asked for $10,000 to reconstruct deteriorating porches at the public housing sites.

Dave Paul of the Building Department would like $20,000 for the demolition of abandoned houses in the city.

Debbie Dick of the Recreation Department requested $19,000 for a basketball court, a fitness course and to assist in the development of the Little League.

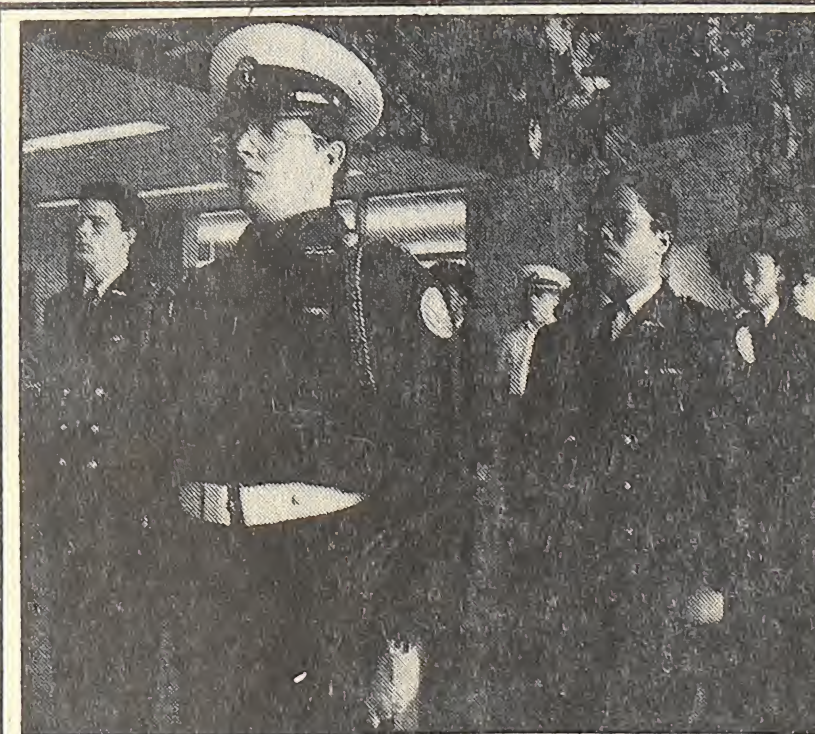

Barry Jaffe of Family Neighborhood Services would like $15,000 to assist local businesses and community services train developmentally disabled adults.

Robert Plank of the Department of Public Works requested $10,000 for the installation of a sidewalk across the railroad tracks on Goddard Road between the Landing Strip and the Post Office so, "seniors won't have to walk in traffic to get to the post office," he said.

Fred Hay of the Historical Commission asked for matching funds up to $25,000 for the renovation of old schoolhouse, "like it was 150 years ago."

Christine Detroyer of the Arts Council requested $2,500 to assist with different programs and activities in 1987.

"All requests will be considered," said Banks, "but the available funds in no way cover all the requests."

'Friends' are strength of library programs

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Diane Hazen is a woman who works among friends, and for that, she is very grateful. Hazen is the librarian at the Romulus Library and she credits much of the success at the facility to friends. When the library needed a special teenage book selection, friends were there. When calls came for a summer reading club, friends were on the scene to lend a hand. These particular friends are constant and ever vigilant. They have volunteered their time and energy to service the reading needs of the Romulus public. They are aptly named, Romulus Friends of the Library. Notable for their semi-annual book sales during May and September, Friends also diligently work behind the scenes. Founded in 1977 by a group of local women who at the time wanted to assist in the operation of the bookmobile. They established a clothing pattern file and from there, their involvement snowballed, according to Hazen. Adults just learning to read will find special books, tapes and records donated by the Friends. "Romulus Library has been designated by the

Wayne Oakland Library Federation as a literacy center, the result of their efforts," she said. This year, the library hopes to establish a video tape collection of mostly non-fiction and children's material. "The main purpose of the Friends is to promote the library. Sure, they raise funds, but more than that, they physically help. They check in books and organize many library programs," said Hazen. The group has 10 active members who readily welcome new participants. "Our only requirement is a willingness to help make the library a place people will use and enjoy a little more," she said. If the library looks more pleasant, certainly the plants, murals and other decorations added by the Friends have helped, Hazen noted. They recently erected a display rack with local community information, including school announcements and applications for state aid, she added. The atmosphere and overall ability of the library to serve the public have greatly improved. In September, a full-time children's librarian was added to the staff. There are now two full-time and three part-time employees, according to Hazen. "The strength of our library is our children's section. The chances of creating a reader out of a child are much greater

Black History Month ends with awards

Their forefathers fought for freedom, and today, black Americans continue the struggle for recognition of many outstanding achievements.

As the month of February ended Friday evening, a Black History Awards Ceremony was celebrated with songs and special guest speakers in Romulus city hall.

February has been designated the month when people of all races reflect and remember the richness of black history, according to Connie Madison, chairperson of the Black History Awards Committee.

"So loose are the bindings on the books of black history, that many pages are lost," noted Samuel Johnny of Southern Bell Telephone Company before the audience.

Two Romulus residents were honored with awards for their contributions to the community. "We presented these awards for the enhancement of young people in the community. These two men are outstanding," said Madison as she handed both Randolph Gear, 1986 Detroit teacher of the year and Terry Mills, all-state Romulus High School basketball star the awards.

Mills surprised his audience with an announcement that he got a 3.0 grade point average after his first term at University of Michigan. Low test scores had prevented him from joining the university team last fall.

In high school, I didn't want to do my work. I was satisfied with Cs. Now I understand that education is more important than athletics, not the other way around," he said.

In the city hall lobby, a collection of drawings and paintings were displayed by artist Gear who also reviewed the history of black people through painting.

In 1555 an Englishman, John Hopkins, brought the first load of Africans to America on a ship called "Jesus," Johnny explained. "If we understand the past, we can interpret the present. Today, we're making greater footprints in the sands of time."

"There was a time when black people thought of themselves as nobody. He hated his neighbor as he hated himself. Perhaps something from our past is missing. Everything has an origin and a purpose. We have a destiny, and we have fruit to bear," he stressed.

Several ministers from the area attended including Rev. Ned Copeland and Rev. Richard Madison from the Community Baptist Church.

Ida Williams sang a special version of "Amazing Grace," as well as an old southern spiritual.

Mayor Beverly McAnally addressed the audience and emphasized the importance of our children and families as contributing members of the community.

Judge Cynthia Stephens of the Wayne County Circuit

Court noted that Black History Month teaches all people, not just blacks, to have a sense of pride in themselves. "It's important for us to have a sense of the history of each of us," she added.

Many individuals gathered to celebrate black heritage including, counterclockwise, Ida Williams, Mayor Beverly McAnally, Connie Madison and Terry Mills seated with his family. ANP photos by Guy Warren/staff photographer

- D. Contractor yards which provide for the indoor and outdoor storage of equipment and supplies such as tractors, front-end loader, dump trucks, and paving equipment. All outside storage or vehicle parking or equipment storage shall be screened from adjoining residences, streets and highways by an unpierced six (6) foot wall, as regulated by Section 4.16, and provided further that in no case shall materials be stacked or stored so as to exceed the height of the wall. The wall requirement along public right-of-way may be waived by the Planning Commission upon a finding that storage areas would be adequately screened by the building and would be no closer than 150 feet to the front property line.
- E. Automobile body and engine repair subject to the following conditions:
- All repairs shall be conducted within a completely enclosed building.
 - All parking or storage of wrecked or damaged vehicles or parts shall be limited to enclosed buildings or areas enclosed and screened from adjoining residences, streets and highways.
 - The required front yard area shall be A.) landscaped and planted open space the full frontage of the site according to the requirements of Section 4.33. Except for vehicular access drives, the front yard area shall not be paved. In no case shall the front yard be used for off-street parking, loading or unloading, or storage of materials or equipment.

- No portion of any structure, facility, access drive or parking area shall be located within fifty (50) feet of any residentially zoned property. The front of any building or structure which face and are within one hundred and fifty (150) feet of a public right-of-way must be constructed of a decorative material.
- There shall be provided, except at entrances and exits, a six (6) foot high decorative wall constructed to the standards shown in Section 4.16, or a six (6) foot chain link fence the full width of the developed or storage area. When a fence is erected, a landscaped earthen berm shall also be provided within fifty (50) feet of the front property line. Where sufficient screening is provided by the berm alone, the Planning Commission may waive the fence requirement.
- Except for the required front yard setback, all developed areas of the site shall be enclosed by a six (6) foot chain link fence or wall. On all sides abutting residentially zoned and/or used property and all office and commercial districts, the portion of the site used for parking and/or storage shall be obscured by a five (5) foot high landscaped berm and the required fence or wall. It is the specific intent of this section that all residentially zoned or use property and all office and commercial districts be screened from bumping, painting and repair activities. To that end, the Planning Commission may impose additional screening or landscape requirements to meet the intent of this section.
- Lighting shall be installed and shielded in a manner which shall not create a driving hazard on adjacent streets or which will cause direct illumination on adjacent property.

- Section 3. PENALTY: Any person, firm, association, partnership, or corporation violating any of the terms of this Ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars or imprisonment not to exceed ninety (90) days or both. Such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.
- Section 4. REPEALER: All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.
- Section 5. SEVERABILITY: If any provision of this Ordinance is found by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, or if the application of this Ordinance to any person or circumstances is found to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the other provisions or applications of this Ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid or unconstitutional provision or application.
- Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE: This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication in the official newspaper as required by City Charter.

I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Romulus at their meeting held on the 9th day of February, 1987.

CHAPTER IV

ARTICLE 1.73

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE OFFICIAL ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS BY AMENDING CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE 1, SECTION 14.03 TO PERMIT SELF-STORAGE WAREHOUSES AS A SPECIAL APPROVAL USE BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW SUBSECTION D.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1: SHORT TITLE
Amended Zoning Ordinance.

Section 2: Amend Section 14.03, Permitted Uses After Special Approval, to include a new subsection D, to read as follows:
Section 14.03. PERMITTED USES AFTER SPECIAL APPROVAL.
D. Self-Storage facilities used to provide temporary storage needs for businesses, apartment dwellers, homeowners, and other individuals on a self serve basis subject to the following:

- The minimum size of the site devoted entirely to such use shall be not less than four (4) acres.
- All ingress and egress from the site shall be directly onto a major thoroughfare having a right-of-way equal to or greater than one hundred twenty (120) feet.
- No storage of combustible or flammable liquids, combustible fibers, or explosive materials as defined in the fire prevention code, or toxic materials, shall be permitted within the self-storage buildings or upon the premises.
- No storage outside of the self-storage buildings shall be permitted. No R.V. or vehicle storage shall be permitted except with the buildings.
- Except as provided herein, the use of the premises shall be limited to storage only and shall not be used for operating any other business, for maintaining or repairing of any vehicles, recreational equipment or other items, or for any recreational activity, hobby or purpose other than the storage of personal items and business items as herein before set forth.
- The entire site shall be completely screened from view on all residentially zoned and/or used sides by a wall not less than six (6) feet in height or with a six (6) foot chain link fence and a greenbelt strip built in conformance with Section 4.16 of not less than twenty (20) feet in width except with respect to the side of the property which abuts a major thoroughfare. If, in the opinion of the Planning Commission, the wall, fence or greenbelt would serve no useful purpose, they may be waived by the Commission.

7. A landscaped, planted open space of a minimum of forty (40) feet in depth, as measured from the front property or right-of-way line, shall be provided along the full frontage of the site. Except for a driveway access, wall, fence or berm, no structures, parking areas or facilities shall be located within this landscaped area.

8. There shall be provided, except at entrances and exits a six (6) foot high decorative wall constructed to the standards of Section 4.16, or an earthen berm constructed to the standards of Section 4.33, the full width of the developed area of the site. The wall shall be constructed at the setback line; the berm shall be constructed within forty (40) feet of the front property line. Where the principal building is constructed at the forty (40) foot setback line, and where the front of such building is constructed of a decorative brick compatible with the wall, then the decorative wall shall not be required along that portion of the front yard enclosed by the building.

9. A security manager shall be permitted to reside on the premises to the extent required by such use.

10. The site shall be graded, drained, hard-surfaced and maintained in accordance with the engineering design standards and specifications of the City of Romulus.

11. Limited retail sales to tenants of products and supplies incidental to the principal use, such as packing materials, packing labels, tape, rope, protective covers, and locks, and chains shall be permitted on the site devoted to this use.

12. No building or structure shall be located closer than thirty-five (35) feet from any abutting residential property.

13. Fire hydrants and fire suppression devices shall be provided, installed and maintained in compliance with the fire prevention code and any other applicable ordinances.

Section 3. PENALTY: Any person, firm, association, partnership, or corporation violating any of the terms of this Ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars or imprisonment not to exceed ninety (90) days or both. Such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.

Section 4. REPEALER: All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

Section 5. SEVERABILITY: If any provision of this Ordinance is found by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, or if the application of this Ordinance to any person or circumstances is found to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the other provisions or applications of this Ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid or unconstitutional provision or application.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE: This Ordinance shall be effective immediately upon publication in the official newspaper as required by City Charter.

I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Romulus at their regular meeting held on the 9th day of February, 1987.

Development 'on hold' pending sewage approval

By SHERRY WOODARD
ANP Staff Writer

Sewer disputes between Canton Township and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources continue and lately some real estate brokers and developers have found themselves caught in the middle. "I've lost $70,000," said real estate broker Joe Van Esley after complaining at a township board meeting last week. Van Esley said he has located a buyer interested in purchasing 128 residential lots near Cherry Hill and Sheldon. The price of the land is $750,000. The problem, though, is the deal has been stalled because Van Esley was told a sewer permit needed to turn the land into a subdivision would not be forthcoming. For developments like subdivisions the MDNR has to issue permits allowing for the extension of a public sewer. "We can't sell it because the DNR won't issue permits on it," Van Esley complained. "The DNR's ruining my business." The MDNR has already denied two such sewer extension permits won't issue permits on it," Van Esley complained. "We've got a situation where lots are very hard to come by," said Van Esley. "Right away, here's a platted subdivision that should be able to sell." Other developers and brokers are being caught up in the same situation, Van Esley said. The Canton Township Engineering Department received notice on Dec. 15, 1986 that permits for sewer construction on two projects had been denied by the MDNR. According to procedures, a hearing date on the denials had to be set. Such a hearing was set for Dec. 22 at which time the question of a Municipal Compliance Plan for Canton Township was brought up. The plan is supposed to represent a general outline of steps the township plans to take for correcting its overflowing sewer problems. Canton officials submitted their plan on Jan. 27 to which the MDNR responded with several comments, in some cases asking for clarification of terminology. "We sent them a letter in response to their comments (last Tuesday)," said Canton Engineer Tom Casari. The MDNR does not have to respond to that letter within any specific time frame but when they do respond they may decide to approve of Canton's compliance plan, Casari said. "I really want to work with these people," he said. The compliance document submitted by Canton included the identification of a project to "go to YCUA for treatment," Casari added. "YCUA" is the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Association, an under capacity sewage treatment facility that Canton officials - along with those from Plymouth Township and Northville - are eyeing. In the meantime, real estate agents like Van Esley are becoming more and more frustrated. "I've been told sometime around spring they might issue a permit," he said. "I'm selling a piece of property. I can't deal in 'approximates.'"

news in brief

Police study knife robberies

WAYNE – Police are investigating three armed robberies involving knives this past weekend, two of which they believe are related.

A man and his wife were held at knifepoint early Sunday morning as they were preparing to leave a local bar in their car. One suspect escaped with the woman's purse which contained a considerable amount of money, police said.

In a second incident Sunday night, an attendant at the Clark gas station on Michigan Avenue was robbed at knife point by a suspect wearing a ski mask.

The suspect escaped with a small amount of cash.

Police believe the incident at the bar may be related to another case last Thursday in which two suspects held two men at knife point as they were washing their cars at a coin-operated car wash on Van Born.

The two suspects escaped in one of the cars being washed, although Romulus police later recovered the vehicle.

Anyone with information into the incident should inform the Wayne police by calling 721-1414.

Gas station is robbed

ROMULUS – A gas station at the corner of Wayne and Goddard roads was robbed last Monday at 7:35 p.m. The suspect, described as a large, black man, asked the clerk for a package of cigarettes. When she proceeded to ring up the sale, he said, "This ain't no joke, this is a robbery," according to police. As he held his hand in his jacket pocket, he managed to open the register by pressing several buttons, the clerk said.

"He grabbed the money and fled on foot. Witnesses say they saw a car parked next to the gas station that may have been used in the escape," police reported. The clerk, who was shaken but uninjured, also added that at least two customers were outside pumping their gas when the robbery occurred. Police are still investigating the incident.

City prepares for celebration

WESTLAND – The city of Westland is planning some extravagant activities for Michigan's 150th birthday celebration.

According to the Westland Historical Commission, on Saturday morning, Sept. 5, there will be a parade at Merriman and Ann Arbor Trail which will travel south to the entrance of Edward Hines Drive, then northwest on Hines Drive to the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail at the site of the old Nankin Mill.

According to the historical commission, residents are encouraged to participate in the parade. Cars, floats, trailers, horse drawn vehicles, in keeping with the theme of life in 1837, are all encouraged to participate. The commission expects many youth and adults to be in the dress of the day. Farmers, pioneers, Indians, circuit riders, trappers, woodsmen, fur buyers, cavalymen, store keepers, school teachers and other dress of the day is expected.

For more information on this and other festivities planned, call the Westland City Hall at 467-3200.

Local telethon is set

CANTON – This is Easter Seals Appreciation Week in Canton Township in anticipation of the annual Easter Seals Telethon which is scheduled for March 7 and 8 on WDIV-TV.

This year the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County reached out to all municipalities in the county in an effort to increase the amount of donations.

On a specified day – which Easter Seal officials had not yet named – designated township employees in Canton, like their counterparts in other municipalities, will collect money from co-workers.

This year, Easter Seal officials hope to collect a total of $1.5 million through the efforts of the municipality program and the telethon.

Mayors and supervisors have been invited to present checks collected in their communities on the WDIV telethon. In order to make an appearance, the community leaders must be able to present checks for at least $1,000.

County ordinance permits drug suits

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Parents whose children have been supplied illegal drugs in Wayne County will be able to take the drug dealers to civil court this week, following an ordinance approved last week by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Sponsored by Commissioner Richard E. Manning (D-Redford), the ordinance was approved by the board by an 11-3 vote. The board had been debating the issue since it was proposed last month, fearing that the new law may be held unconstitutional in the state court system.

Milton Mack (D-Wayne), one of the three dissenters in the vote, said the ordinance is unconstitutional. Mack insisted that the ordinance should be introduced on the state level and not by the county commissioners.

"This ordinance is more of a gesture. The state legislature decides on what basis you can sue someone, not counties," said Mack defending his negative stance Monday. "If it were up to the counties, you would have 82 sets of laws in Michigan."

According to Mack, the state constitution leaves the task of defining civil liability up to the state legislature, a clue that the county should not be involved in such tasks, Mack said. In addition, the county commissioner questioned how, at the county level, the new ordinance would be enforced.

"It's really not enforceable. If you were to discover a drug dealer who sold drugs, can you image trying to sue him? What are you going to do, garnishee his wages?" asks Mack. "This ordinance is really just offering a false hope. This is a matter the state legislature would more probably address."

Despite Mack's objection, Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster) supported the idea with full force. According to Beard, the legal worries of the proposal should be left to the courts, while the county takes the initiative in stamping out drugs.

"I feel anything we can do to make drugs difficult and to help parents needs to be done," Beard said on Monday. "That's why we have courts. You will rarely get two lawyers to agree on something. It seems to me that we are empowered to write ordinances for the county. If someone challenges it, we'll have to go to court."

The ordinance establishes civil liability for the sale or transfer of an illegal drug to a minor or for supplying anyone with an illegal drug that could be made available to a minor.

As of Monday, County Executive Edward McNamara had not yet vetoed the proposal. Under the county charter, McNamara has 10 days to veto legislation, although he does not need to sign new ordinances before they become effective.

Pick the best of the worst area potholes

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Although area public works employees have been hard at work keeping the roads in good order this winter, the combination of freezing temperatures and thaws plus snow, ice and salt on the roadways have produced the scourge of spring - chuckholes.

As drivers navigate the area streets and highways at this time of year, chuckholes seem to pop up with the same regularity that wildflowers appear in the spring. And, to the dismay of drivers, just when road crews patch one set of potholes, another batch seems to appear to plague motorists.

Associated Newspapers can't promise to alleviate annual road problems this spring, but the newspaper can help to ease the effects of the chuckhole problem for three individuals who contact us with information on the worst chuckholes in the Associated Newspapers circulation area. The pothole must be on a paved road or street in Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Inkster, Belleville or Canton, Sumpter or Van Buren townships. Prizes will be awarded to the first individuals to nominate each of the three worst chuckholes in the area.

Nominations may be sent by letter or post card to Chuckhole Derby, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184, or to the Belleville Enterprise, P.O. Box 378, Belleville, Mich. 48111. The contest closes on March 25 and winners will be announced on April 1. Pictures of the three worst chuckholes will be pictured in the same edition.

Top winner will receive a front end alignment from Automotive Tire and Service Inc., 32640 Michigan Ave., Wayne. The second and third prizes also will be supplied by Automotive Tire.

County nets statewide parks program award

The Wayne County Parks and Recreation Department has been awarded the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association award for innovative recreation programming.

The award was given in recognition of the "International tug across the Detroit River" developed by Chief of Recreation Victor Chiasson, County Executive Edward McNamara said last week.

The tug was staged July 5, 1986, in conjunction with the international freedom festival. It was implemented with the cooperation of the Detroit Recreation Department, the U.S. Coast Guard, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Marine Division, the Windsor Harbor Master and Detroit Renaissance.

Wayne County won the tug. The award was presented at the recent Michigan Recreation and Park Association State Conference at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

(Under authority of Act 165, P.A. 1929, and Act 230 P.A. 1925, as amended)
STATEWIDE TROUT AND SALMON REGULATIONS

Under the authority of Section 3 of Act 230, P.A. 1925, and Act 165, P.A. 1929, as amended, being Sections 300.3 and 303.1, respectively, of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the Natural Resources Commission, at its February 6, 1987 meeting, amended its order of October 10, 1986, that no person shall possess, take or attempt to take, any species of trout or salmon from any of the waters of this state except by hook and line during the open seasons prescribed, and within the minimum size limits and maximum possession limits indicated below.

Statewide open seasons on all streams and designated trout lakes shall be from the last Saturday in April through September 30 (longer on waters designated by the Director for extended fishing under Act 165) on all trout and salmon; statewide open seasons on all trout and salmon lakes and the Great Lakes and connecting waters shall be any time for all trout and salmon; except: on Lake Huron and its tributary streams and on Lake Michigan and its tributary streams where the season on lake trout is from May 1 through August 15. Also, the following defined areas are established as refuge areas for lake trout rehabilitation and are closed to sport fishing for lake trout.

All waters enclosed in an area commencing at a point 9 miles due west of 7-mile point, then westerly for 13½ miles, then north 5½ miles, then west for 9 miles, then north for 11 miles then west for 18 miles, then south for 38½ miles, then east for 9 miles, then north for 5½ miles, then east for 9 miles, then north for 5½ miles, then east for 18 miles, then north for 5½ miles, then east for 4½ miles, then north for 5½ miles to the point of beginning.

Lake Michigan (South)

All waters enclosed in an area commencing at a point 12½ miles due west of the lake entrance of Duck Lake, Muskegon County (T11N, R18W, Sec. 24), then west to the state boundary, then southerly along the state boundary to a point due west of a point 1½ miles south of Lake Macatawa Harbor entrance, then due east 14 miles, then north to point of origin.

Lake Huron

All waters enclosed in an area commencing from Pt. Anderson (T41N, R5E, Sec. 11) to a point 21 miles south, then easterly to the international boundary, then northerly along the international boundary to a point due east of the point of land south and east of Bass Cove on Drummond Island (T41N, R7E, Sec. 26 then due west to the intersection of Drummond Island (T41N, R7E, Sec. 26).

Size limits shall be 8 inches in Lower Peninsula streams, 7 inches on Upper Peninsula streams, and 10 inches on all lakes. The possession limit for trout and salmon shall be 5 fish singly or in combination but not more than 2 lake trout or salmon from Lake Michigan and its tributary streams or 3 lake trout or salmon from Lake Superior and Lake Huron and their tributary streams, except that an additional 5 brook or brown trout or pink salmon may be taken from streams from the last Saturday in April through September 30 only.

In addition to one day's possession limit of salmon and trout, a person may possess an additional two days' possession limit of processed salmon. For the purposes of this Commission Order, the term processed means:

- (a) Canned in a sealed container
- (b) Cured by smoking or drying
- (c) Frozen in a solid state

Any processed salmon or trout aboard a vessel on the water or at dockside shall be included in the daily possession limit.

This order supersedes the previous order, CFI-104.86, dated October 10, 1986, and shall be effective for two years, beginning April 1, 1987 through March 31, 1989.

One more time

History, it appears, does repeat itself. Last week at the meeting of the Canton Township Board of Trustees, the lack of professional courtesy and outright rudeness (once a trademark of Canton) erupted publicly once again as Supervisor Jim Poole and Clerk Linda Chuhran engaged in personal insults and denigrating comments during the time the business of the township was supposed to be conducted.

As many remember far too well, Canton Township a few years ago was the scene of this type of antic when the board members battled the elected treasurer. The arguments, personal insults, nasty remarks and lack of respect for the respective offices involved were the topics of full-page newspaper articles and drew the attention, then, too, of the daily newspapers. In short, Canton was considered the home of some rather eccentric officeholders.

Flamboyant politicians are a matter of history in this country and some of the finest governmental administrators we have known have had some very strange idiosyncrasies--some unprintable in a family newspaper. These rather amusing and confusing character traits were tolerated by the constituency and those working with these people in light of the tremendous job being done, and the leadership these politicians provided.

We'd like to think that's the case in Canton where Linda Chuhran is suing the board of trustees for various and sundry sins. Since the charges have been added to and deleted often, it is difficult to understand her complaints, but primarily, it appears, she is maintaining that the entire board is attempting to strip her office of the authority it should have and are interfering with her ability to run that office.

There is no doubt that Jim Poole is an eccentric. There is also no doubt about his devotion to Canton Township and his sincere desire to make Canton one of the strongest, best-run and best-managed municipalities in the state. He is joined in this goal by an excellent group of administrators who work diligently providing some of the finest, most cohesive and best planned government available anywhere.

Despite all appearances, and the disappearance of both Trustee Robert Padgett and Treasurer Gerald Brown from the board table when the conduct of Chuhran and Poole deteriorated into a public squabble last week, the people of Canton are receiving excellent management and government for the tax dollars they spend.

But is that enough? Are those taxpayers not also entitled to some dignity, professionalism and propriety from their elected officials, who receive payment from them of $100 per meeting?

We would urge Poole to take a deep breath, count to 10 and try, one more time, to chair the meeting without falling victim to the temptation of baited, insulting innuendo and overt comments which might, again, reduce the public transaction of township business to a soap opera.

We wish him luck.

On the right track

Through the years, I have trained my senses to listen to the hidden message that lies behind the words people communicate to me. My wife, on the other hand, seems to have the rare knack of hearing and dealing with things on an "as-presented" basis. It makes for an interesting combination.

I can be masterful at translating what is being said into what is really meant, while Susan occasionally will confess to have overlooked certain subtleties that I have acquired the ability to ferret out. This is, I confess, one of the few things I consider myself better at than she is.

Susan, on the other hand, has to occasionally pull me from the tracks of a speeding train coming down the track at full bore, because I am looking for the hidden meaning. This is while my wife is yelling at me at the top of her voice, "Dave, get out of the way. There is no hidden meaning. It's just a damn train!"

All that aside, I have learned some interesting things about the real meaning of certain oft-used phrases. For example: "Boy do I need to go on a diet." Translation: "I am so hungry. I can't stand it, and furthermore, I am going to devour as many of those cookies over there as I can jam into my face at one time. I only hope I can control myself long enough to get the wrapper off the package before I shove them in my mouth."

Get the drift? It's really quite easy once you get the hang of it. Here's another one: "I'm going to take this work home with me and finish it up tonight". Usually that means, "I hope you didn't notice that I came in late today and am leaving early. If I carry this pile of stuff home, maybe if you did notice you won't say anything." The work going home has nothing to do with whether it's going to get done. More often than not, it never gets touched, or takes twice as long to do because of home distractions. When the work is done, the effort expended will require compensation in the form of more late mornings and early afternoon departures.

Do you see how this works? How about slumping sales at the company? "Well, everyone is working hard, the calls are being made and some things are starting to happen." That translates: "I haven't the slightest idea what is going on, and if I did, I certainly wouldn't tell a jerk like you. And obviously, you're too stupid to know what's going on anyway."

This is one of my favorites: "You know we're going to have to start cutting down on expenses, because we keep running out of money before we run out of bills each month." That means: "We are about to make a major purchase, and blow our entire budget all to hell."

I've always enjoyed: "You know, so-and-so has been with us a long time and really deserves more money, don't you agree?" That translates: "I am about to hit you up for a raise, and if I get you thinking about raises I will find a way to make the transition to how long its been since I last received a raise"

I wish I could claim credit for this line of thinking, but many have written on the subject before. Frank Betger in his book on sales says to ask for the reason someone is not buying your product and then after they have answered, ask them what the real reason is.

The danger, of course, in this whole tap dance approach to communication is that when you should be asking them to

I consider myself a lucky man.

I have been able to pursue my dream and have an honest shot at mastering it. I am lucky enough to write for an award-winning newspaper, and quite frankly, I have a lot to be thankful for. And the one thing that I'm most thankful for is something that touches more people than anything else in our country and yet is probably the most taken for granted.

I'm talking about my education, and the educational opportunity afforded nearly all of us in this country. The same education that kids despise when attending school and miss so dearly once they have graduated.

Consider the following statement: Education is the basis for all intelligent life. Not an extremely profound or astounding proclamation, but so incredibly accurate. Consider this as well: Education, like all other things, needs funding to survive. Again, incredibly accurate. What amazes me is the disturbing fact that an alarmingly large number of people seem to think education is free, there are no costs.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not talking about the Wayne-Westland area. The people around here have always supported their school systems and it shows in the quality of education that's turned out. I just want to make sure the people support the system again.

As reported a few weeks ago, the Wayne-Westland Community School District will be asking for a millage increase on April 2. Using the word increase is a major overstatement here, the huge chunk of capitol the school system is asking for amounts to roughly 50 cents-per-week, per-household.

Fifty cents, come on, that's comical. Yet there are people (many more than I care to think of) who would consider this too high. Please, be real. Is drinking one less cup of coffee per week asking too much for sound education and top rate facilities? Even if you don't drink coffee, which I do, think of the ROI (return of investment) for just 50 cents per week.

Okay, here comes the standard excuse, "I don't have children in the school system." SO WHAT! Even if you don't have children in the school system, wouldn't it be nice to know the kids in the schools were getting the best money could buy, and that you helped? Try this on for size. What if you did have children in the schools and more people fell back on the standard (See SPEAKING, page 10-A)

Road assessment not favored in Wayne

To The Editor:

I would like to comment on all columns concerning the Lewis Savage Garfield Park Subdivision paving in Wayne.

I am a resident. Oh yes. . . we have storm drains. . . and sidewalks, too! . . . Some of us do. . .

The companies that came in here to do the work made gross errors in both drains AND sidewalks. Why should we hand out hard-earned money for second-hand, shoddy work?

The drains were put in the wrong places, causing some streets to hold puddles.

The sidewalks were a joke. Open fields had sidewalks while some residents didn't get them, leaving "gaps" between, and John Hix didn't get them at all! The workers came in 10-year-old cars and left with new and said "they ran out of money. We can't finish the job."

What is in the minds of the neighborhood? In the long run we will be another "vacate for progress" neighborhood. Fords will expand, and we will have to move. (There, I said it!)

Two millages are up on the block causing even higher taxes if they pass. We pay our share. .

We are not a "slum neighborhood" and never will be, just because the streets are not paved. We can think of better things to spend our money on. Like utility bills, food, taxes, etc., etc.

'Inkster schools are embarrassing' reader complains

To The Editor:

Does anybody care? The results of the recent Science Testing to our fourth, seventh and 10th-graders in the 83 school districts in the Tri-County Area reveals that the Inkster School District finished dead last.

How tragic for our children and shamefully embarrassing for those of us concerned. What in the world is going on in our classrooms?

capitol column

The Michigan Legislature has approved a bill which I sponsored, the guaranteed tuition program, for future students of Michigan colleges and universities. Through the program now known as the Michigan Education Trust, parents and other interested adults can invest in a special fund. All the money collected will be pooled and invested by the state. When the designated student goes to college, the fund would provide tuition and fees for four academic years at a public Michigan undergraduate institution.

Before the program can be implemented, however, the U.S. Internal Revenue Service must rule that the difference between the initial investment and the ultimate tuition payment would be exempt from federal taxes. The Legislature has already provided a state income tax deduction for initial MET investment.

The MET payments could be used for partial tuition at a private college or university in the state, or at an out-of-state school. In those cases, the payments would equal the average tuition at Michigan schools. If the designated student does not attend any college or university, the returned payment would equal just the lowest tuition charged by a state school. This provision was added to insure that MET would be used only for guaranteed tuition and not as an alternative investment plan.

MET will bring economic confidence to the many Michigan families facing ever-rising tuition costs. When students and their families know that tuition is guaranteed, they'll be able to choose a college or university that is really the best for their own needs and not just what they can afford.

And families who can't afford direct participation in MET will benefit as well. With a significant number of paying participants, the state would have more financial aid available for the most needy students.

MET is the first program of its kind anywhere in the Country. Participation is strictly voluntary, and is open to parents, grandparents, friends or any other adult interested in a child's educational future. No tax dollars will be used, as operating expenses will be paid with some of the return on MET funds. State officials are considering the possibility of expanding the program to include graduate study, and also turning the MET program over to private sector management in the near future, as has been done successfully with other state-administered programs.

The IRS ruling about tax-exemption status, which will enable the MET program to begin accepting applicants, is expected very soon. When the program is in place, Michigan students and their families can begin planning for their best educational future.

another job, you are instead listening to them angling toward asking for more money so that they can feel like they are a successful employee, when, in fact, you both know they're not.

So here's my new plan. The next time someone says: "How do you like my new dress," I'm going to say, "It certainly does show off your fat." Then when they get insulted and say, "I want another opinion," I'm going to say, "Yes, well, you're also ugly."

That will, I figure, plant our feet firmly on the path of honest communication, or else I'll have a bruised kneecap or a fat lip. Maybe both.

Susan, my wife and editor, just read this and informed me that there is a train coming, fast, and if I don't want to get run over, now is the time to shut up and get out of the way.

She has also suggested that I may have pulled the throttle wide open on this one myself. See you next week. Maybe.

Speaking

dard excuse? Not a very comforting thought, is it? I have no children, but you can surely bet that 50 cents which lever I'll be pulling.

My parents, who are the greatest in the world, must have been through 20 millage votes during the time my three brothers and I were in school. Not once did their support for the school system lag, and their staunch and unrelenting backing of the schools made a strong impression on me.

So now it's obvious, the support my parents gave the schools throughout the years has rubbed off on me, in a big way. So what? What's wrong with that? Dr. Dennis O'Neill, superintendent of Wayne-Westland Community Schools, has said the district needs this small increase to address immediate physical and instructional needs, and I believe him. There is this one quirk of human nature that says everyone is hiding something. The problem with some people is their suspicions get the best of them. This millage increase isn't going to fatten some executive's paycheck. It's just a small increase in a local school district millage, to maintain the excellent standards they have achieved to this point.

Some of the buildings in the school system are approaching 20 years of age and have basically the same equipment they had when first opened.

Fifty cents a week, that's all, can ensure sound facilities and top rate instruction for the children of this area. Maybe that's the main issue here. Not the 50 cents less per week in the bank account, but the quality of education and educational facilities we provide to the children.

When thinking of it this way, and this is the way to think of it, there is only one thing to do. So, once again, when April 2 comes around, look for me in the voting line. I'll be there, sure as the sun rises every day. And, if I seem unusually happy or content, you'll know why. I just spent the smartest 50 cents of my life.

Alzheimer's — Old disease, new support

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Alzheimer's Disease isn't the new and unknown disease many Americans would like it to be. In fact, according to one researcher, the disease — discovered in 1906 — has been known to man as long as he has walked the earth.

Pat Johnson, family services coordinator for the Detroit branch of Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, Inc., said that the disease is more frequent among the elderly today only because there are more elderly people around to become affected with it. In addition, she said, what was once thought of as the common case of senility was probably really just a form of Alzheimer's Disease.

"Alzheimer's Disease, I suppose, is what people used to call senility. What happens, we think, is that some of the brain cells die, and this results in the memory loss and eventual death."

Just recently, Johnson said, scientists announced that they may have located the exact spot in the brain cells that Alzheimer's begins. Although the recent discover is still very sketchy, it may also lead to a cure for the disease that affects some 60,000 people in the Detroit metro area.

Although the disease has attracted widespread attention, it is still fairly rare. According to Johnson, only 5 percent of those over the age of 65 become afflicted with Alzheimer's, although the disease has been found in people ages 40-64 as well.

"The first sign of it is a loss of memory. But we're talking about a serious loss of memory," explained Johnson. "We all have some memory loss, and just because we might forget things, it doesn't mean we have Alzheimer's."

There is no accurate Alzheimer's diagnosis. In fact, Johnson said, the disease can be accurately detected only through an autopsy. However, once all other possible similar, known health conditions are ruled out, Alzheimer's many times becomes the only logical reason for the abnormal health condition, Johnson continued.

"We don't know what causes it. Some people think it may be hereditary, but everything is just theory. We really don't know," said Johnson. "We just know what it does to people."

Alzheimer's is a fatal disease, Johnson said, although most people do not die of it directly. Many times, the breakdown of bodily functions leads to a low immunity level. This, she said, makes the person with Alzheimer's susceptible to a wide variety of fatal diseases such as pneumonia and Parkinson's disease which eventually lead to the person's death.

Nevertheless, the disease cannot be ignored, Johnson continued. Older family members should be watched closely for signs of the early stages of Alzheimer's, and medical treatment should be sought if the disease is suspected.

According to Johnson, Alzheimer's patients go through three key stages. The first stage is the least obvious of all, she said. Loss of memory, decline in ability to perform routine tasks, impairment of judgment, disorientation, personality change, difficulty in learning and loss of language skills are all symptoms of this early stage, Johnson explained.

Muscle twitching, seizures, agitation and restlessness are signs that the patient has entered the second stage of Alzheimer's, while complete disorientation, complete dependence, inability to recognize themselves or others and a complete loss of control of all body functions are signs that the patient has entered the third and final stage of the disease.

In all, most patients suffer from 7-10 years with Alzheimer's, Johnson said, although some patients have died two years after being diagnosed.

ALZHEIMER'S Incurable disorder affects entire family

Alzheimer's: In short, what is it?

Alzheimer's Disease is perhaps one of the most unknown and misunderstood diseases to afflict the human race, according to workers at the Alzheimer's Disease association. However, a few important facts about the human disorder should be understood.

DEFINITION: Alzheimer's Disease is a progressive, debilitating and inevitably fatal neurological disease that affects one of every 20 Americans over the age of 65. It is the fourth leading cause of death in America.

SYMPTOMS: Progressive memory loss, decline in ability to perform routine tasks, impairment of judgment, confusion, disorientation, personality change, difficulty in learning and increased dependence on others.

CAUSE: Not known. Theories include a deficit in the cholinergic system of neuro-transmitters in the brain, selective cell death, genetic predisposition and biochemical defect.

TREATMENT: Guidance and tranquilizers to help calm. Disease is incurable.

RECENT ALZHEIMER'S VICTIMS: Norman Rockwell, Rita Hayworth, Ross Macdonald, Peter Hurd, E.B. White, Arthur O'Connell, Edmond O'Brien.

Disease changes life for local family

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Edward Baker was the perfect husband. His personality was amiable. His temperament was calm. Retired and carefree, he and wife Evelyn did everything together. They traveled, gardened and enjoyed a special love that only they could share.

Today, Edward doesn't even know he has a wife.

The Bakers are the victims of a disease one out of every three families in America will contend with this year. The two must together listen to death knocking at their door. They must learn to deal with their emotions, anguish and pain. They must learn to deal with the reality of Alzheimer's disease, the ailment which afflicted Edward about four years ago.

The two met in Florida in 1968, after each had been widowed for some time. Marriage bonded their relationship in 1970, and Alzheimer's Disease nearly tore them apart just 12 years later.

"It was about four years ago that I noticed he would forget to put the checks in the envelopes when he was doing them," said Evelyn. "Next, it was the driving. He would get turned around and couldn't find his way around. From then on, it was a downhill thing."

Although they were unsure as to what was ailing Edward, the Bakers weren't oblivious to the fact that something was wrong. Dreadfully wrong. At first, senility became the verdict. As time progressed and Edward's condition became worse, doctors began to cast aside their previous contentions, eliminating every other possible cause of the condition except Alzheimer's Disease.

"I didn't know what Alzheimer's was. I had never heard of it. But I knew that whatever it was, it was changing him," explained Evelyn. "He became irritable, upset, cranky. That just wasn't him. I finally got over it, but not without first putting up a fight."

When the disease first set in, Evelyn only noticed the behavioral change in her husband of more than 10 years. Confused and feeling defensive, Evelyn contemplated asking him to leave. Finally, when she realized his actions were not of his own choosing, Evelyn relented and decided to devote her life to her marriage partner until the end.

"At first it was a huge shock. He couldn't give me directions anymore. His daughter came over, and he didn't recognize her. The days of the week don't mean anything to him anymore. At times, I know he doesn't even connect me as his wife. He just calls me 'missy.' That's not him at all," Evelyn said.

The condition didn't get any better. The pain didn't go away. The loneliness for Evelyn didn't subside. But somehow, somewhere, the 73-year-old wife and mother of three children gained the strength to carry on.

In June 1986, the two abandoned their Florida retirement home and moved to a condominium in Plymouth where they could be close to family members. By this time, Edward had lost his ability to dress and undress. He no longer could use the bathroom, bathe or be left in the house alone. No longer could the 81-year-old former engineer construct the model airplanes he had loved so much, and no longer could any words of affection or wisdom come forth from his lips.

"He tries to fight it. He fights like a Trojan," said Evelyn. "I guess that's what makes it so difficult. I think once in a while he knows what is going on. Once in a while I can decipher what he is saying."

"But for the most part, he sleeps. He doesn't eat much anymore, although he usually can feed himself," she continued. "He'll spend hours after hours just staring into the mirror talking to himself. No one knows what he is saying."

One source of Evelyn's newfound strength in dealing with the situation, she said, may be in the support she has received in a local Alzheimer's Disease support group. It is there that once each month Evelyn meets with other families contending with the same problems she faces each day. And it is there that Evelyn has realized that her own plight is minimal compared to the horror stories other families have conveyed.

"I'm just now coming out of my shell about all of this. My girls have been a great help, and the support group is great," Evelyn said. "I sat there and listened to the other people, and it woke me up to what was going on with some of the other people."

Evelyn isn't sure what the future holds for her husband, nor does she know what to expect in terms of his condition. Edward's doctors aren't saying how much longer Edward will be forced to cope with Alzheimer's, nor does Evelyn know how much longer she will be able to support him as an invalid, caring for his each and every need.

Still, Evelyn knows that deep inside Edward hasn't lost his love for his wife. He hasn't lost his sense of pride, character and compassion, Evelyn said. And, most of all, the two haven't forgotten their vows of support and unending togetherness, even in this most desperate hour.

When elderly relatives become senile, family members are increasingly pressured to be understanding in the most difficult of situations.

Alzheimer's disease, formerly called senility, is the fourth leading cause of death among old people, according to registered nurse Beth Popovich, a geriatric clinical specialist with Home Health Care.

In 1985, she helped design the Alzheimer's support group for Western Wayne County. The program is sponsored by the Alzheimer's Association headquartered in Birmingham.

"Alzheimer's was always called senility. But that was not a good word and it was redefined. Dr. Alzheimer discovered the disease in 1906 in a 55-year-old woman. Today, it becomes an increasing problem as large segment of the population steadily grows older. And professionals refer the problem as Alzheimer's," she explained.

Alzheimer's is characterized by irrational or uncontrollable behavior in older adults. "It's a slow process over a period of years," said Popovich. "Some days they're better than others. Most often there is a lot of agitated behavior. But the problems inflicted on families are as difficult as any. "There's a change in the intellectual functioning of old people with Alzheimer's. They're unable to make decisions and often can not be safely left alone. They can be uncooperative and unfriendly. They can forget who or where they are," she explained.

"Alzheimer's was always called senility. But that was not a good word and it was redefined. Dr. Alzheimer discovered the disease in 1906 in a 55-year-old woman."

The disease generally afflicts both males and females over the age of 60, according to Popovich. But the different stages and slow processes which the disease follows are difficult for family members.

"Families do not often know how to deal with many aspects of Alzheimer's. They often have to decide when to place their loved one in a nursing home. When they don't, the burden of caring for them at home can be traumatic," she explained.

She noted family members may feel guilty for perhaps promising their relative that they would never send them into a nursing home. But the responsibility of caring for an invalid relative can be overwhelming. In the early stages, patients can often mask signs of the disease.

The family support group meets once a month in the Arbor House Building at Ann Arbor Trail and Harvey Street in Plymouth. Popovich added that private counselors are available for families.

"Family members are first to see or experience strange behavior among their older relatives. The families of people with Alzheimer's have extraordinary needs. They often display problems coping with the Alzheimer individual.

"During a support session, we discuss their feelings and each person gives an update about their relative. Everybody is at a different point of dealing with their own relative. And the sharing of information always proves beneficial," she concluded.

Penningtons celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Elza H. Pennington of Romaine, Romulus, will celebrate their 50th wedding March 21 with a special service at the Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus.

The two were married in 1937 at a minister's house in Ligon, Ky. They are the parents of three children, Celeste, Larry and Leslie. They also have eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Pennington retired in 1979 from General Motors of Livonia. He and his wife enjoy fishing and camping.

Several family members are expected to attend the celebration in which their testimony and song of praise and thanksgiving to the Lord will be the theme.

To determine whether Alzheimer's is a possibility in a health condition, doctors must first rule out all other related disorders having symptoms similar to Alzheimer's. These, Johnson said, include pernicious anemia, drug reactions, hormonal imbalances, depression, alcohol abuse, brain tumors, chronic meningitis, head trauma, multi-infarct dementia, Pick's Disease, Parkinson's Disease and Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease.

To do this, patients are administered CAT Scan tests, mental status exams, blood tests, family history surveys and neurological exams. Once Alzheimer's is ruled to be the health problem, Johnson said, the family is advised to seek both medical and psychological help to deal with what is currently an incurable disease.

"What we are trying to do here is promote the support of the family. We can't do a lot for the Alzheimer's patients. Nobody can," said Johnson. "But we can help the family."

One method of helping is through Alzheimer's support group.

With the help of the support groups and an increased public awareness of Alzheimer's, both Johnson and Popovich are hoping to make the disease a bit more bearable. No, then two said, such an awareness and amount of support won't cure the disease. But it may give that needed, extra boost of strength to those who must continually face it.

Romulus boasts 2 wrestling champions

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Tony Venturini and Jim Schlener did it their way.

The two outstanding Romulus High wrestlers captured coveted Class A wrestling titles in their respective weight classes and will lead the area delegation to the Class A state finals scheduled for Friday and Saturday. And they did it without marring their records.

"We're proud of these kids," said Romulus Coach Wayne Schimming whose team finished fourth at the regionals conducted at Detroit Catholic Central. "We are all proud at their accomplishments and hope they will go all the way."

Venturini, a rugged 98-pounder, won the regional title on a technical fall over Carlson's Andy Rossow, boosting his personal record to 48-0 en route to the title.

A junior, Venturini quickly disposed of Plymouth Salem's Jeff Delbeke via a 3:02 pin to advance to the semifinals where he met and defeated Jim Beck of Bedford in the first period.

"Tony is just one tough wrestler," said Schimming.

Schlener struck gold at the regional in the 138-pound class, clashing with Redford Union's Mitch Quint in the finals and turning him back in a hotly contested match, 7-5.

That victory was Schlener's 53rd against no losses this year.

"Quint was ranked No.1 in the state," Schimming pointed out, "and this was a superb performance."

In the first round, Schlener was awarded a technical fall over Southfield's Eric Rankin, then he claimed a 12-8 decision over Ann Arbor Pioneer's Jason Palmisano to advance to the finals.

Romulus also qualified heavyweight Steve Anderson for the state. Anderson finished fourth and will take a 35-9-1 won-lost record to Lansing Eastern, site of the state championships.

Belleville also qualified one of its wrestlers for state. Dave Brendtke, a 145-pounder, will represent Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers after placing fourth at the regionals. Brendtke's personal record is 38-10.

Detroit Catholic Central, a perennial wrestling powerhouse, Carlson, and Bedford Temperance finished ahead of Romulus in the final regional standings. DCC had 124.5 points while Carlson garnered 82.5 and Bedford had 71.5. Romulus was fourth with 52 and other area teams with regional points included Westland John Glenn - 18 points with a 15th place finish and Wayne Memorial, with 9 points, finishing in 23.

Softball season is ready to fly

Gibson, Trammel and Whittaker, might well be shaking in their spikes as competition from the west heats up in the form of the Romulus Junior High School girls' softball team.

According to coach Fred Coleman, the program was initially dropped, back in 1981, because of a lack of funds. "We had softball here, and at South (a junior high that was located next to Romulus Junior High), when we had two junior highs. The program was dropped however, for financial reasons."

Coleman said softball at the junior high level is a great way to prepare the girls for sports at the high school level, as experienced in 1981. "I was a varsity softball

Eagles fall

It just wasn't the perfect night for the Romulus cagers Friday as the Eagles lost a 92-90 thriller to visiting Detroit Cody High School. Cody got four crucial free-throws from senior-guard Tony Walters in the extra period to salt away the victory. Southpaw scoring ace Billy Johnson (above) finds himself sandwiched between two of his game-high 37 points as the Eagles record dips to 9-8.

Progress Pieces fall together for Huron cagers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The pieces are beginning to fall together for New Boston Huron cagers and head coach Larry Swick.

After riding the roller coaster for most of the season, Huron came out with a 62-57 victory over Riverview to avert the conference cellar.

And, in the Class B District playoff pairings, Huron drew a first round bye and will meet Milan in the semifinals. If the Chiefs can put down Milan they will find themselves in the championship game. The district at Willow Run gets underway at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 10 when Airport takes on host, Willow Run.

At 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 11 Huron meets Milan and the following day, Thursday, March 12 Ypsilanti Lincoln will play the winner of the Airport and Willow Run game to see which will reach the 7:30 p.m., Saturday, March 14 championship round.

"We couldn't have asked for a better draw," said Swick, whose team will take a 5-15 overall record up against Milan on Wednesday, March 11. "We lost to them (Milan) on their court 95-85 in the second game of the season, but we are looking forward to the rematch."

Swick also said he was pleased with his team's overall performance against Riverview. With Doug Marmion setting the pace, the Chiefs jumped to a 18-12 first period lead and never trailed.

Marmion collected eight of his game high 17 points in the first period, then teammates James Clark and Brian Coffee along with Marmion each tossed in six points to lift the Chiefs to a 26-27 halftime advantage.

Although Riverview rallied behind Joe Sommer and Jeff Lick to cut Huron's lead by five, outscoring their rivals 16-11 for the third period, Huron sealed the victory with a 15-14 wedge in the last eight minutes.

"We played well and won - and that's important to us at this stage," Swick said.

Marmion finished with 17 points, while Dave Watson and Clark each had 12 and Coffee added 11. Sommer led the Pirates with 14 and Lick would up with 13.

Madness stalks stars

"March Madness", the traditional month for high school basketball playoffs, breezes into the area next week with the promises of excitement and suspense.

Romulus, the defending Class A state champ, drew a first round bye at the District 14 tournament to be conducted at Wayne Memorial.

Romulus, sporting a 10-8 overall record going into the week of action, faces Taylor Kennedy at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 12. Kennedy will throw a team that has amassed an impressive 17-3 record at Coach Dan Henry and his Eagles.

Belleville, the only club to hand three-time Wolverine 'A' Conference champ, Wayne Memorial, a league setback this year, will meet the defending champ in the first round scheduled for 7 p.m., Tuesday, March 10. Belleville is 12-6 on the year while Wayne is sporting a 14-4 record. The fifth team at Wayne is Taylor Truman, a team that has compiled a 15-4 record.

The championship at Wayne will be decided at 7 p.m., Saturday, March 14. The district champ will also play for the regional title at EMU.

For only the second time in its history, Westland John Glenn has been designated as a District (21) championship site.

Glenn opens the tournament 7 p.m., Monday, March 9 against Garden City and the winner will advance to the semifinals to be played Wednesday, March 11 against Livonia Stevenson. The first game at 7 p.m. Wednesday pits Livonia Franklin against cross-town rival, Churchill.

Wayne, Salem take conference titles

Rick Taylor erupted for 10 of his game high 21 points to lead Plymouth Salem to a 59-45 victory over arch-rival Plymouth Canton and the Western Lakes Activities Conference basketball championship last Thursday.

Salem and Westland John Glenn ended the regular division title race with identical records and a flip of the coin opened the door for the Plymouth quintet to reach the championship game.

Canton qualified for the conference championship by winning the Western Division crown.

Before a crowd estimated at 1,000, Salem eked out a 7-6 first period lead before Taylor came alive with his direct hits in the following eight minutes. Salem widened its margin of advantage to 26-23 at the halfway mark before outscoring Canton 16-9 in the third period to go up by 10, 42-32 for three periods.

"Salem's size hurt us," noted Canton Coach Tom Niemi who was disappointed that his club lost but satisfied that his players played an excellent first half. "We gave them a lot of second efforts on the board in the second half and that was, in my opinion, the difference in this ball game."

Canton finished the conference with a 11-6 record; the Chiefs were 12-8 overall for the season. Salem amassed a 17-2 record for the regular season.

Taylor's 21 points led all scorers and teammate Mike Hale added 17, the only other Salem player to reach double figures. Canton placed two in double figures. Rog Trice had 12 and Tyrone Reeves scored 10.

WAYNE MEMORIAL LEFT no doubts in anyone's mind who is the 1987 Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball champ.

Striking early and decisively, Coach

Chuck Henry's Zebras knocked out Monroe 66-46 Friday night to regain the title for the third consecutive year. Monroe was the only team left that could have forced the defending champ into sharing the championship.

"We really played a solid overall game," said Henry whose team is now 12-1 in the league and 14-4 on the season. "And our defense really did it in the third period."

Although Wayne has Fordson to contend with Friday night to close out its league season before entering the district play-offs, a loss to the Dearborn club would not affect Wayne's championship status.

Wayne is the host of a Class 'A' district which will also include teams representing Romulus, Belleville, Taylor Kennedy and Taylor Truman.

Nominated Grantham vies for title

At an assembly conducted in the gymnasium of Belleville High School on Thursday, Kris Grantham received a nomination to the 1987 McDonald's All-American Basketball team.

Coach Leon Birdyshaw termed the nomination "well deserved" and in his introduction of Grantham predicted that the classmates of the award-winning guard "will pay money to see him play" in the future.

Grantham, a senior, played his last home game at Belleville on Thursday.

As a nominee, the 5-foot 8-inch guard is in the running to be one of the 25 members selected to the 1987 McDonald's All-American Basketball team. Grantham is one of the 1,500 prep cagers in the country nominated by a selection committee for the All-American team. The geographically-diverse committee of high school coaches and sports writers is headed by Morgan Wootten, coach of DeMatha High School in Maryland, one of the top ranked high school teams in the nation.

The Belleville player is in good company. Former McDonald All-Americans include such college and pro stars as Michael Jordan, Magic Johnson, Mark Aguirre, Ralph Sampson, Patrick Ewing, Danny Manning and Duane "Pearl" Washington.

The players selected for the All-American team this year will participate in the tenth annual event to be staged at the Spectrum in Philadelphia on April 12 and will be broadcast live on ABC.

coach back then. The junior high team was okay, but when they came to high school, they put together a pretty good team. The team was 84-30 throughout high school," he said.

Experience is something Coleman is not lacking, he loves to coach softball. "I coached at the varsity level, and also in the summer league, I really enjoy the summer league." Coleman's most recent summer team was very successful, he said. "My team last summer was one game away from going to nationals."

Coleman said the team this year should be a top notch squad. "We have the nucleus of some excellent athletes, a lot of potential." Although Coleman thinks the team will do well, he said there is more to it than that. "I think we'll do okay, it's more important to develop the basic skills at this level, although I do think we will be successful."

Coleman's squad will consist of 18 to 20 girls, but not just any girls, according to Coleman. "I want to keep the girls that have an interest in the sport and are not going to get hurt," he said. According to Coleman, his team will produce some excellent pitching. "It's going to be a fast pitch league, we're going to see some good pitching, some of the girls can really bring it."

The schedule for this year encompasses 10 dates with 16 games being played.

1. April 29, at Belleville for two five-inning games, 4 p.m.
2. April 30, at Ypsilanti East, two five-inning games, 4 p.m.
3. May 5, Trenton Monguagon Jetty, two five-inning games, 3:30.
4. May 7, at Novi for one game beginning at 4 p.m.
5. May 8, at Trenton Monguagon Jetty, two five-inning games, 3:30.

6. May 12, River Rouge, for two five-inning games, at 4 p.m.
7. May 18, Ypsilanti West, for two five-inning games, 4 p.m.
8. May 20, Ypsilanti East, for one game at 4 p.m.
9. May 21, at Ypsilanti West for one game, beginning at 4 p.m.
10. May 28, Novi, for one game, beginning at 4 p.m.

Coleman is very excited about fielding a softball team this year, and he admits that there is one thing he attempts to teach each of his players.
